As rural America continues to “age,” access to basic necessities and health care will continue to strain rural transit providers. The goal of this project is to use a recently published guidebook to calculate performance measures for the transit providers in Alabama, potentially develop new performance measures that incorporate specific elements of Alabama, and identify methods to improve performance. The goals of the project are to identify where rural transit needs to improve and what steps can improve performance to better serve the citizens of Alabama.

Start Date: 01/01/2011  End Date: 12/31/2011
Status: Active
Secondary Number: UTCA Project #11305
Total Dollars: 76918
Source Organization: University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa
Date Added: 01/04/2011

Sponsor Organization
University of Alabama, Tuscaloosa
University Transportation Center for Alabama
Box 870205
Tuscaloosa, AL 35487

Performing Organization
University of Alabama, Huntsville
Department of Civil Engineering
Huntsville, AL 35899

Subjects
Administration and Management
Planning
Policy and Legal Issues
Education and Training
Research
Public Transportation